

Lee J. Sirnic - July 22, 1938 - July 30, 2011

Lee was born in Sharon, PA. He moved to So. California in 1965 and became a long time resident of Burbank. He had pancreatic cancer and it had spread to his liver. He had been taking chemotherapy treatments since the end of April but the doctors stopped the treatments at the beginning of June as they felt all that could be done was to keep him as comfortable as possible. He kept trying alternative methods of treatment as recent as July 27 but couldn't beat the disease.

Lee worked as a design draftsman and engineer for Jet Propulsion Lab Pasadena, Warner Brothers Studios, NBC TV, Universal Studios Theme Parks, Disney Studios, Disneyland Anaheim and Disneyworld Florida. He toured with Ice Capades from 1962-65. An avid animal lover, Lee had many dogs, St. Bernard's, over the last 40 years. His 2 current Saints, Sir Barnabas and Miss Natasha will miss him greatly as we all will. His generous nature will be remembered by all as well as all the help he gave to so many.

He is survived by his brother Norman, his sister Naomi Webber, and his neices and nephews.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday , August 18 at 10:30 AM at San Fernando Mission Church, 15151 San Fernando Mission Blvd., Mission Hills and Mission Hills Catholic Cemetery at 11160 Stranwood Ave. Mission Hills.
